Should you invest in Spanish real estate in 2025? The Spanish real estate market will continue to grow in 2025, driven by a favorable economic outlook and strong demographic trends. Investors should focus on regions with high demand and limited supply, such as Costa Blanca, to maximize returns. Given current trends, investing in Spanish real estate promises solid medium- and long-term gains.

Why is the Spanish real estate market growing? The Spanish real estate market is experiencing significant growth driven by key economic and demographic factors. Lower interest rates and strengthened economic activity in the Eurozone have increased housing demand. According to BBVA Research, Spain's GDP grew by 2.5% in 2024, with a projected growth of 2.1% in 2025. How much money has been invested in the living sector in Spain? With more than 1,130 million euros transacted, the Living sector has attracted 35% of the total investment from January to March in Spain and has tripled the figure recorded in the first quarter of last year. Why are property prices rising in Costa Blanca? One of the most noticeable trends is the rise in housing prices, particularly in major cities and popular coastal areas like Costa Blanca. CaixaBank Research reports that property prices rose by 4.3% in Q1 2024, a trend expected to continue into 2025. Limited new construction and high demand are key reasons for this price increase.

How dynamism was the residential market in 2024? The residential market for sale showed great dynamism in 2024, mainly in the last three months of the year, when demand registered an increase of 19%. For the year as a whole, demand grew by 12% compared to the previous year, favoured, in part, by the impact of foreign sales with 14.5% of the total. Why is Madrid a leading investment destination? In terms of location, Madrid reinforces its position as the leading investment destination, accounting for nearly 50% of the total volume transacted.
